History of our school

Schools are considered as the temple of knowledge for students. Schools prepare the students to be the future leaders and help them to face problems without any fear. Schools help students in understanding the importance of discipline and time management.

Schools are the founding stone to build a better character with the moral and spiritual values to grow physically and mentally. Besides academics, there is a wide range of skills learned at school which includes good behavior, communication skills, responsibility, time management and sports skills.

Schools are considered as heaven on earth and it is very hard to imagine the world without schools. Sacred Heart School was founded on June 2007 under the management of Sisters of the most Sacred Heart of Jesus. The school is situated in Kurugodu, west Bellary in the diocese of Bellary, in Karnataka. It had a humble beginning with just 6 students and three sisters as staff. In the beginning the classes were held in a small shed. As the years rolled on slowly the construction of school building was taken up and now we have around 1030 students and thirty seven teachers.

As we are well aware of the surroundings, its village background, a land known for the Hinduism with so much of mountains, rocks, and temples and the job of the place is agriculture where the farmers are illiterate, and nomads are the people who are surrounded by the society, and it is their children who come here for the education. It's an academic education on moral values where we need to inculcate these values on the children, because the people of the area are more of uncultured due to their occupation. Moreover there are people who live on daily wages and their financial background is not so good, so it's our service, on charity oriented, at times where we make known the values of Christ through our gentle behaviors with the people. In Sacred Heart School the students are encouraged to be creative, reflective and motivated to grow and develop both curriculum as well as co-curricular activities. Individual talents of the students are spotted, nourished and encouraged. We impart quality education through qualified and dedicated teachers. It also provides a good learning environment. The school aims at bringing up responsible and confident future citizens who will uphold both moral and spiritual values and become effective and productive members of the society.
